

THREE NATIONS NOW WAR AGAINST TURKEY

GREECE HAS JOINED BULGARIA AND SERBIA IN DECLARING HOSTILITIES.

ARMIES SOON TO MEET

Turkish and Bulgarian Forces Both Advancing and Are Expected To Meet in Mountain Pass.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Oct. 18.—Notification that Bulgaria, Serbia and Greece had declared war against Turkey was given to the British foreign office today by the representatives of those countries. The only formality now lacking is the declaration of war by Turkey against Greece which action the Ottoman government, has appeared reluctant to do. This little detail, however, is not delaying the movement of the various armies. The Turkish and Bulgarian forces and both advancing and it is believed they will meet somewhere in the vicinity of Mustafa Pasha, one of the few passes through the mountains leading from Bulgaria to Macedonia. At the same time the Serbian army is on the way to Uekup when another battle is anticipated.
In Northern Albania where the Turks and Montenegrins are striving for supremacy there is a lull in the fighting. This, however, is regarded in military circles as only the lull which precedes the big storm that will break when the two armies come together in the struggle for the possession of the Turkish town of Scutari. Many rumors are published of heavy fighting on the Bulgarian and Serbian frontiers.
A report also has reached here from Vienna that the Montenegrin army has suffered a defeat at Podgorica on the Montenegrin territory.
The report has not been confirmed. On the other hand a Belgrade dispatch says the Serbian army is proceeding toward Uekup without encountering any resistance.
Military authorities expressed their belief that the Montenegrins have been checked both to the north and south of Lake Scutari or that they have found it necessary to give their men a rest after the continuous fighting in which they have been engaged since the outbreak of hostilities. It also is likely that a delay in their advance has been necessitated by the lack of ammunition and provisions, which the primitive transport system of the Montenegrin troops has been unable to keep up to the requirement of the army in the field.
Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 18.—A striking proclamation to the Bulgarian nation has been issued by King Ferdinand. It is a report of the suffering of the Christians and the efforts made by the European powers to obtain better conditions for them and finally says he has called the people to arms only after the patience of the Bulgarian nation has been exhausted.
The proclamation opens with a reference to King Ferdinand's peaceful reign for twenty-six years and says he had hoped that it would have continued. "But providence judged otherwise," it says. "The moment has come when the Bulgarian race is called upon to renounce the benefit of peace and to have recourse to arms for the solution of the great problem."
Beyond the Rilo and Rhodope mountains our brothers are in blood and for thirty-five years our religion has met with conditions of life that are unbearable. The appeals of the Balkan slaves and the groaning of millions of Christians could not stir our hearts and the hearts of our neighboring nations.
Our length of peace now is to be broken, and there is no other means than recourse to arms. After the massacre of Kistip and Katskhan instead of according to justice and satisfaction, Turkey ordered mobilization of her military forces. Our long patience has been put to a rude test. The humanitarian sentiment of Christians, the sacred duty of suffering brothers from men's extermination, and the honor and dignity of Bulgaria have imposed upon us the duty of calling to arms, Bulgarian sons.
Our work is a just and sacred one. With faith in the protection and guidance of the Almighty, I bring to the cognizance of the Bulgarian nation that this is war for human rights. I order the brave Bulgarian army to march onto Turkish territory. Forward, May God be with you.
Today special services are being held in all of the churches of the Kingdom for the success of the Bulgarian army. The queen, the ministers and other dignitaries were members of the large crowd in the cathedral when the "Tedian" was sung.
All Fighting.
London, Oct. 18.—The whole of the Turkish garrison Bema consisting of 4,000 regulars and 3,000 auxiliaries are engaged in fighting. (Irregular) are engaged in fighting. The Montenegrins received from Cetinje. The Montenegrins renounced them and took a number of prisoners and three field guns. The pursuit continued to Bozar.
Call to Arms.
Bucharest, Roumania, Oct. 18.—The Roumanian government has issued a call for mobilization of three of its army corps. In semi-official circles here the Roumanians consider that any eventual success of the Bulgarian army would be disastrous to itself. She has therefore been ordered to abandon her peaceful attitude and order a mobilization of three army corps at once.

GUNMEN ATTACK AND CRUELLY BEAT MAN WHO KILLED ZELIG

"Red Phil" Davidson Set Upon And Left Bruised and Bleeding by Assaultants, Who Broke Away From Keepers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Oct. 18.—The story of a free-for-all fight on the Bridge of Sighs yesterday in which "Red Phil" Davidson, slayer of Jack Zelig the gang leader was set upon kicked and beaten by the four gun men indicted for shooting Herman Rosenthal to death was made public today. The gunmen "Lefty Louis," "Gip the Blood," "Dago Frank" and "Whitie" Lewis handcuffed to deputies from their way back to the Tombs from the court room where Police Lieut. Becker is on trial. "Red Phil" similarly manacled was on his way to the building to plead to the indictment charging him with Zelig's murder. They met in the center of the narrow bridge. Immediately the gunmen dragging their keepers with them by concerted action made for Zelig's slayer. Before the astonished deputies could collect themselves the gunmen had kicked, mauled and beaten Davidson until he was pleading for mercy. The gunmen were hauled away from their victim in a few seconds and continued on a run to their cells leaving Davidson badly bruised and bleeding.
Police Lieut. Becker's defense to the charge of instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler is that Rosenthal was murdered at the behest of other gamblers who hated him as a meddler and informer to the police. John H. Hart, Becker's lawyer, in presenting his case to the jury so declared today, adding that he would prove Becker not "only not guilty, but absolutely innocent."
"We will prove," Mr. Hart said, "that Webber, Rose, Vallon and Schepps conspired independently of Becker and with independent motives to murder Rosenthal. After Rosenthal was murdered and they were rid of one of the men whom they hated most in the world, they conspired to get rid of Becker, the other man they hated by false evidence and perjured testimony."
Mr. Hart added that the defendant had no connection with the gunmen and that Rose, Vallon and other alleged conspirators had admitted Becker's innocence. As to Jack Rose, Mr. Hart declared, the defense would prove that he had lied on the stand in every particular. The case moved swiftly. Witnesses for the defense were sworn within an hour after Mr. Hart concluded his address.

SCHRANK INQUIRES HOW ROOSEVELT IS

Would-be Assassin of Roosevelt Asks That Bullet Be Given to New York Historical Society.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, Oct. 18.—For the first time since he was incarcerated, John Schrank would-be assassin, asked a deputy sheriff at the county jail, how Col. Roosevelt was. When told his condition was favorable Schrank asked where the Colonel had been shot and if the bullet had been located.
"The bullet belongs to me," said the prisoner. Continuing Schrank said: "I have made my will and bequeathed the bullet with which I shot Roosevelt to the New York Historical Society, with the request that it be placed on exhibition in the rotunda of the state capitol at Albany. My property in New York I have willed to my mother in Germany."
When asked again today if he was not sorry for having shot the Colonel, Schrank said he was not. That he considered in committing the act he was doing only his duty. Schrank was as much unruffled as ever when he awoke in his cell this morning. In addition to the space of 7x4 feet which is taken up by the cell Schrank has the privilege of exercising in an enclosure 20x40 in dimensions.
It was intimated today that the reason for having the prisoner's bail increased from $7,500 to $15,000 was the result of a plan of certain moving picture men to have him released and placed under heavy guard long enough to obtain a series of picture films. District Attorney Zabel said today that all efforts in this direction would avail nothing, and that should men back of the enterprise persist in having their plans carried out they would be haled into court and made to face contempt proceedings.
The district attorney stated today that Schrank will not be tried until after the national election.

The game is to be played at the State Fair here and the city is already beginning to fill with the followers of both teams. Betting slightly favors the Oklahomans, not so much because of any developments of this year's playing, but because of the fact that the Normal school scored victories over the Texans last year and the year before. Mrs. Cameron-Falconnet appeared with an attorney before Municipal Judge Wells, who signed the warrant. The girl's mother became hysterical. Then she faced her daughter in the police station. "I would rather see you spend your time in jail than one day in company of that negro," Mrs. Cameron-Falconnet cried. The girl broke down and threw her arms around her mother. Counsel representing Johnson attempted to see Miss Cameron, but his request was denied. Frank H. Hilliard, of Minneapolis, also represented Mrs. Cameron-Falconnet in court.

Garfield stone cliffs. It is estimated that twenty million acres of the sixty million acres to be reclaimed will be set out to orchards. The remainder will be used for the growing of sugar beets, hay and grain. It is believed that the completion and opening of the project will bring not less than 40,000 settlers to Mesa county.
BATTLE OF SARATOGA MEMORIAL UNVEILED
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Saratoga, N. Y., Oct. 18.—In the village of Schuylerville, where the British army under Lord Burgoyne was surrendered to the Americans under Gen. Gates one hundred and thirty-five years ago, following the victorious battle of Saratoga, there was unveiled today a handsome monument to commemorate that event, which next to the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, was the most important American victory of the revolution.
Official representatives of all of the thirteen original states took part in the dedication program. Preceding the unveiling exercises there was a military parade, in which regular troops from Fort Allen and companies of militia and semi-militia organizations of several states took part.
The oration of the unveiling was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Henry Mac Cracken, chancellor of New York University. Governor Dix delivered an address, accepting the monument in behalf of the State of New York.
COMMISSION TELLS WHAT IT HAS DONE
Industrial Commission Issues Statement Regarding Work Done During Past Year.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 18.—From figures furnished by the industrial commission, it is estimated that the saving in litigation to working people who received compensation last year without court action, by the operation of the workmen's compensation law, was $250,000. The cost of operating the law in the same period was $59,718.75. A great deal of other work of the commission is not estimated financially.
Among these activities are the following: The commission has gathered statistics for legislation to prevent many deaths by occupational diseases; improved labor conditions in all branches of industry in regard to sanitation, safety, light, heat and ventilation; found employment for many men without charge through state employment offices; enforced the law for reduced hours of woman labor and the laws for child labor; supported families administered by the interests of boys entering trades; enforced the truancy laws, made safe conditions in hotels, theaters, halls and schools.
Corn shredders, huskers and feed cutters last year claimed 94 victims in Wisconsin or more than were killed on the American side in the battles of Manila Bay and Santiago together. Not so many were injured in boiler explosions in this state in three years, nor so many in powder explosions in ten years. The economic loss was $307,000. The commission will publish, shortly, ways of prevention after a long investigation.
The year before the law went into effect the employers of the state paid $750,000 for liability insurances. About $250,000 of this amount went to laboring men as damages for injuries, and the rest went for the support of the insurance companies. Now, under this law, every cent paid for compensation goes directly to the injured workman. It is claimed that if all of the laboring men of the state were under the act, there would be a saving to them of $500,000 in damage claims. But as only half are under the act, the actual saving during the past year was $250,000.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 18.—Elmer E. Dover, secretary of the republican national committee in 1904 placed in evidence before the Clapp committee today what he said was a list of contributions to the committee that year given by the late Cornelius N. "It is difficult for an ordinary man in the company of ordinary liars to compete with the testimony of character of assassins and liars like Mr. Hillies—men who by their falsehoods incite weak minded men to actual assassinations," was the passage which brought out a storm of protests from the committee in which Chairman Clapp joined.

Morse of Antigo who has been switched to the ninth district by the recent gerrymander, also spoke. Congressman Morse has taken no stand on the factional fight in the republican party and he was asked last night by a newspaper man, "I would like to ask you a pointed question, to which Morse replied, "All right, I'll answer it." "Just wait a minute and maybe you won't want to answer it. The question is: In case neither candidate for president receives a majority in the electoral college, for whom will you vote?"
Congressman Morse said he did not want to answer that question, that he had not fully made up his mind which of the two republican candidates he would support. He said that if a vote for Roosevelt would break a tie in the house he would support him and if a vote for Taft would break a tie he would cast his vote for Taft. ROOSEVELT SAYS TO KEEP FIGHT GOING

TELLS GOVERNOR JOHNSON NOT TO LET UP ON CAMPAIGN WORK.

Condition of Wounded Man Satisfactory to the Surgeons in Charge of the Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Oct. 18.—"Keep the fire going full blast Johnson. Don't let our boys slack up in their work because I can't be with them for a few days. Tell the people you speak to I wish I could be out there working with you myself and that I certainly will be as soon as my doctors will let me." This was Col. Roosevelt's parting injunction and encouragement to Gov. Johnson, progressive candidate for vice president when the latter left the presidential candidate at Mercy hospital today.
Twenty-five policemen, escorted Gov. Hiram W. Johnson today from the grand central railway station to his hotel. The large guard was ordered by Chief of Police McWeeney, as a result of the attempt to assassinate Col. Roosevelt. Chief McWeeney said no chance would be taken of a similar attack on the colonel's running mate.
Gov. Hiram Johnson arrived at the hospital at 11:30 and was admitted to the colonel's room at once.
Former President Roosevelt will leave Chicago for Oyster Bay Monday or Tuesday of next week. He will travel on one of the slower trains over the Pennsylvania so that he may enter New York at the station from which the trains to Oyster Bay depart. This program was decided upon today with only the qualification that it depended upon Col. Roosevelt's continued and uninterrupted improvement which attending surgeons now confidently expect.
Colonel Roosevelt awoke in Mercy Hospital at 7:25 this morning full of vigor. His nurse hastened into the patient's room and expressed himself as having a "perfectly bully night." The colonel's temperature was 98.2, his pulse 76, and his respiration 18.
Last night brought more sleep to the Colonel than he has had since he was wounded. Shortly after ten last night he dropped the book he had been reading. Mrs. Roosevelt retired to her room; the lights were extinguished and he fell into a sound sleep not to awaken until 4:30 o'clock this morning, when a slight record was taken for the first time during the night.
In all Colonel Roosevelt slept more than six and a half hours which he said was more than he was accustomed to in all his life. The colonel was feeling fine. He not only said so himself, but he showed it in every way. His color was good, his eyes bright, and his manner animated. He joked with his nurse who proceeded to take his clinical record.
During the evening everything was quiet near the colonel's quarters. No anxiety was felt for the morrow. Dr. Scully Terrell who travels with the colonel, retired to his room at ten and did not visit the patient once after that hour. Not once did Mrs. Roosevelt awaken to inquire how her husband was feeling. She also slept well. The colonel had a ravenous appetite this morning.
According to the clinical record taken during the night the colonel's condition is more nearly normal than it has yet been. He suffered no pain from the pressure of the bullet on the injured rib. The rib itself is now believed to be mending rapidly. So little is Colonel Roosevelt inconvenienced by the bullet in his body that he has almost forgotten it is there.
The following bulletin was issued by surgeons at 8:30 a. m.:
Pulse 70, temperature 94.4, respiration 18. Pain in chest almost vanished. General condition good (that he will sit up for an hour today). His consciousness is progressing favorably, and unless some slight infection manifests itself, his progress should be rapid. Signed, Dr. J. B. Murphy, Dr. Dean Arthur, Bayan, Dr. Alexander Lambert, Dr. Scully Terrell.

He said that if a vote for Roosevelt would break a tie in the house he would support him and if a vote for Taft would break a tie he would cast his vote for Taft. This is the first statement that Congressman Morse has made on the factional fight.

GEORGE WARRINGTON SENTENCED TO JAIL

Charge of Assault on Two Girls Withdrawn—Pleads Guilty to Intoxication—Gets Thirty Days.
At the request of the fathers of the two third ward girls who were accosted by George Warrington, a stranger, on Milwaukee Street Saturday night, the charge of assault entered against him was withdrawn. They were unwilling to have their daughters appear in court to testify as would have been necessary in an action for assault. A charge of intoxication was then entered against Warrington to which he pleaded guilty. Judge Fifield sentenced him to ten days imprisonment to pay a fine of $20, or spend twenty days more in jail. Warrington told the Judge a long hard luck story, insisted that he was not a tramp or a criminal, and felt so badly over his humiliation that he broke down and sobbed. He said that not being able to find work in New Orleans he accepted a job as a section hand at a place on the Illinois Central Railway about fifty miles out of Chicago. There he had to work and live with negroes in bunk cars which was exceedingly distasteful to him. He came on to Chicago and could not get work that he could do because he was not a union man. There he found out that men were wanted to work in the sugar factory at Janesville and came to this city.

Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict, the young and charming college graduate and economic expert, who is managing the campaign for the state Political Equality League, of which the Janesville organization is a branch, will be in the city on Tuesday when she will confer with the workers here on the campaign methods. This is part of an extended tour which Mrs. Benedict is now making through the state in the interests of this work. The meeting here next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. P. Lovejoy, 220 St. Lawrence Avenue, will be for the members of the league. No propaganda will be discussed but just plain methods. Local suffragists have been active this week distributing literature and gold-and-white buttons bearing the legend, "Votes for Women." Ladies in the rural districts have been busy, too, and it is reported at local headquarters that practically all of the voters of Rock Prairie have been reached.

Another National League star is setting. Mordecai Brown, the three-fingered pitcher who in the past has been one of the strongest assets of the Chicago Cubs, has been sold to the Louisville team of the American Association. Brown's arm is said to be as good as ever, but he twisted his knee in a game early in the 1912 season, and apparently it will never entirely recover.

"I see by the papers," recently remarked Jimmy Archer, of the Chicago Cubs, "that they are having riots and disturbances in Colorado. Believe me, boys, Colorado is the real riot-center of Ireland, and Kilkenny is only a bush-league town in comparison. I was born near Kilkenny, and I inherited this throwing arm of mine. They don't count you as a real man in Colorado unless you can beat a constable or an Orangeman with a rock at 90 yards—and everyone in my family had an average of from 985 upwards on heaving durnicks in the hour of need."

Billy Papke, the American middle-weight boxer, is in hard training for his coming fight with Georges Carpentier, French champion. Papke's manager, Al Lippe, when asked what he thought of the action of the New York Athletic commission in regard to Papke, declared: "A man can only lose or win a title by winning or losing a contest. Papke will meet Carpentier on Oct. 23 for the title. The winner of that go will meet Bom-

JANESVILLE READY TO MEET JEFFERSON

Nothing But Victory Can Be Seen by Local Fans—Play Game at Driving Park Gridiron.

The Janesville high school football squad are in the pink of condition for tomorrow's battle with the Jefferson school. They expect a stiff struggle, as the team from the neighboring city have put in a hard drill since their 51 to 0 defeat at the hands of Madison, and are reported to have a heavy defense. Edler's leg is somewhat painful, but outside of that, the locals are fit for the job, and will enter the game confident of a victory.

Last year the crimson defeated the locals on a muddy and dry field, by a score of 5 to 0. They can not do it again, so the wearers of the blue and white say, and Coach Curtis sees nothing but victory. He don't expect a large score, as the teams seemed evenly matched, each being considered as the two strongest squads in the western part of the state. Capt. Connel of the locals may have a task at right end, as Jefferson have an all-around end, by the name of Fiesch. The team remembers that last year, when Edler broke away for a touchdown, having a safe lead for the goal line, this little end started on the run and overtook Edler in his attempt to cross the goal. Together with this man, the Jefferson team are strong throughout, and the followers are uncertain as to the outcome.

Falter will not be in the lineup. Cummings will be at right half, and Jones will start the game at tackle. This is the same lineup which defeated Stoughton, two weeks ago.

The lineup will undoubtedly be as follows: Smiley and Kuhlrow, 10; Mohr, 11; Dalton, 12; Cannon, 13; Koch, 14; Jones, 15; Connell, (capt.), 16; J. Stewart, 17; Edler, 18; Cummings, 19; Ryan, 20; L. Stewart, O'Connor, subs.

There seems no reason why citizens of Janesville should not turn out to this game. If the locals win tomorrow, it means that they are still in the running for the state championship. They cannot win without the hearty support of the school and also outsiders. It is the first time in over a decade that the Janesville High School have produced a championship team, and the city should feel proud. The game will start promptly at 10 o'clock in the morning, and will be played at the Fair Grounds Driving Park. The high school students have prepared new yells and songs and they will stir the city some before the game in an attempt to arouse football interest in the city, and to obtain a crowd in order to boost the team and give them the idea that somebody is back of them to cheer them on to victory.

The Walters' Strike.

Probably no strike could carry with it a more singular human interest than this of the Walters. We think of them as functionaries, and now suddenly discover in a multitude of unexpected ways that they are men. Faces that we have been accustomed to see only above a starched shirt-front and white tie, we now encounter on the street, and are startled by perceiving that the man in ordinary garb is really Heinrich of Emile. In one of his Roundabout Papers Thackeray wrote of his astonishment when the butler asked if there was anything further desired after dinner, as he had word that his house was on fire. What, James with a house and a wife and children? That had never occurred to him before. And the Walters' strike is similarly bringing home to thousands in New York the human and personal aspect of a calling upon which their thought had not rested previously.—New York Evening Post.

WORKS' DEFECTION BRINGS DEFECTION

Senator John D. Works.

The recent declaration of Senator John D. Works, Republican, of California, that he would vote for neither Taft nor Roosevelt next month but support Wilson, has brought defection to both the Republican and Progressive ranks. Having always been a strong champion of progressive politics, Senator Works has a large following in the Golden state, and his support was eagerly sought by both parties. His reasons for voting for Wilson are that Taft was not fairly and honestly nominated, and that "Roosevelt has never until now stood openly for progressive principles."

THE AMERICAN FARMERS.

These farmers ought very greatly to increase the value of American lands, which, as recently as 1910, was fixed at $38,000,000,000, while farm buildings in 1910 were estimated to be of the value of $8,000,000,000. No small part of the returns which the farmers will receive from our enormous harvest will be invested in increased farm lands and farm buildings. It is yet too soon to determine what the precise relation of the exports of agricultural products to exports of manufactured products will be found to have been in the year 1912. There is some doubt about the accuracy of the reports that have recently come from Europe which tell of fairly good harvests in the grain-growing nations. But at all events our surplus food products and our handsome surplus of raw cotton are likely to increase our exports of agricultural commodities in 1912 over 1911.

"We do not know that our exports of manufactured products in the fiscal year ended June 30 last were considerably in excess of one thousand million dollars. And when it is remembered that as recently as the year 1898, the United States for the first time exported commodities made in American factories which were of greater value than the manufactured articles which we imported, then there can be some understanding of the vast growth of our foreign trade in manufactured articles. We are likely to have a money return for the Indian corn harvested this year of not far from $1,400,000,000; for wheat not far from $700,000,000.

This brief summary from Holland's daily letter, in a financial journal, is very significant because it has to do with the important relation of agriculture to national prosperity. The farmer sometimes labors under the false impression that he is a victim of the tariff, when the fact is that he is one of the chief beneficiaries.

Under the protective tariff the nation has enjoyed a long era of prosperity. The products of the farm have enjoyed a home market which has no rival, because American labor has found ready employment at good wages. Our surplus has also been in good demand abroad. The following incident explains itself and shows the difference between democratic free trade, and the wholesome protection which we now enjoy. The experience of the Bond county farm is a common experience.

Congressman Rodenberg of East St. Louis was interrupted in a speech the other day at Reno, Bond county, by a man in the crowd who yelled:

"What about the tariff and the high cost of living?"

Mr. Rodenberg stopped his address and proceeded to make the man answer himself by asking him questions. The dialogue was like this:

you sold in 1896?
No, the one I sold in 1896 was a much better animal.
Then Mr. Rodenberg went on with his speech.
The farmers of the country should be a unit in supporting a party which advocates protection. Many of them can recall the hard times of 1893-94 when it required 600 bushels of corn to pay for a lumber wagon, for everything that the farmer raised was cheap in those days.
The same incompetent party, which was responsible for many of these conditions, again aspires to leadership. If successful, the same record of failure will be repeated.

POT AND KETTLE.

"The attempt upon the life of Mr. Roosevelt is universally deplored and it has called forth sincere expressions of regret and reprobation from President Taft, Governor Wilson and the great and influential newspapers that have been opposing the progressive party and its candidate. There has been no false note in their messages or comment, but can this be said of the remarks made by Gifford Pinchot and published in yesterday's paper?"

"Mr. Pinchot denounced the degenerate press and said that it was but little worse to shoot at his good name with a lie; that the men and the newspapers that deliberately excite with lies the feeble and vicious mind, like the assassin's at Milwaukee, bear a heavy responsibility." But where are the men and where the newspapers that have done this thing and what party in this campaign has been free from violent attacks? Have the progressives had a monopoly of sobriety and fairness of statement? Has all the bitterness, all the denunciation, all the extravagance of utterance been confined to their opponents? "Mr. Pinchot spoke not on the impulse of the moment, but long after the shot was fired at Mr. Roosevelt and when there was every prospect that he would soon recover. About the same time Mr. Bryan was speaking in another place with perfect justice, good taste and good feeling. He deplored the act of the mad-man and expressed a keen sympathy for Mr. Roosevelt in his affliction, but added: 'The question before the country must be decided by the sane. A maniac cannot be an arbiter in such a crisis. I am surprised that the friends of Mr. Roosevelt should attempt to make use of this incident in his behalf.' His surprise will probably give way to other emotions if there is to be a continual performance of the pot calling the kettle black."

The Chicago Record-Herald thus discusses Mr. Pinchot, and his attitude toward the press, which he holds in a measure responsible for the attempted assassination of Colonel Roosevelt. The criticism is uncalled for and unjust, for it is apparent to all fair-minded people that the progressive party has been the aggressive party ever since it was organized.

The primary campaign, as well as the one now in progress was noted for personalities, and if there was any other issue, it was lost in denouncing men rather than in discussing measures. The president has been assailed from every platform.
There are many things said in the heat of a campaign, that might better not have been said, but it comes with ill grace at the present time, for a progressive to criticize. The Roosevelt tragedy called for universal sympathy, which was generously expressed, but Mr. Bryan was right when he said that "a maniac cannot be an arbiter in such a crisis." The campaign will proceed, but with less bitterness.

There is one order that should be issued by the common council to the police force, without delay, and that is to use their clubs freely and indiscriminately on the loafers and hoodlums who infest the streets and insult every woman who passes by. A couple of married ladies were going home from the first ward, at eight o'clock, the other evening, and were accosted three times, on the way. Another married lady, passing the Bower City bank corner was addressed by a hoodlum as "Hello Sweetheart." These are the conditions all over the city, and people are asking, What is our police force for? If incompetent, discharge them. If not, give them authority to smash a few heads and watch results. It is high time that something was done to protect our wives and daughters.

The law which provides that aliens can not vote until they become full-fledged citizens, by taking out their second papers, is a good law, and will remedy some of the evils which prevail, especially in our large cities, where illiterate foreigners have been voted like cattle. Every man who votes should know something about what he is doing. The new law is no hardship, and should prove a blessing to the country.

PRESS AND POLITICS.

Taft Sentiment Grows.
Green Bay Gazette.—Reports from various sources during the past few weeks indicate a strong growth in sentiment among the voters of the country in favor of the re-election of President Taft, according to statements coming from national republican headquarters.

While at the beginning of the campaign there were indications of a lack of popularity which threatened the defeat of the republican ticket nationally, since that time the voters have had an opportunity to weigh the matter carefully, to compare the party platforms and candidates and thus reach an intelligent determination. That such a process would increase President Taft's standing among the voters is not to be wondered at.

Varying Opinions.
Milwaukee Journal.—The Boston Transcript, a supporter of Taft, has experienced correspondents who are studying the political situation and

The Real Question.
I don't care how election goes; I am not worried, goodness knows, it makes no difference to me, And will not change my salary.

The Balkan war cloud now in view Is nothing startling, nothing new, It does not haunt me in the night, If they must do it, let 'em fight.

I do not worry o'er baseball. It makes no difference at all To me who wins the championship, I'm satisfied to let her rip.

The scientists do not fuss me With microbes that I cannot see, I am not sneered at any germs— We are on quite familiar terms.

For touring cars I do not yearn, For private yachts I do not burn, Those luxuries don't worry me, From such ambitions I am free.

But there's one question I would note That really has quite got my goat; That has burned right into my soul, Where will I get my winter's coal?

According to Uncle Abner, Vaudeville is just one durned imitator after another.

Miss Lettie Perkins has been on the stage for several years, but she has only been married three times to date.

Most all of Luke Pringle's sons have gone to the bad. The first is a burglar, the second is a three-card monte shark, the third is in politics and the fourth is a lawyer.

T. Egbert Peavy is saving cigarette coupons to get a automobile. He has only got to save 639,542 more and he will probably get the automobile.

If the cigarettes don't get him first, it is getting so a feller has got to have something besides long hair to get ahead in the poetry business.

I see by the papers an organ grinder feller down to New York has saved up enough to buy an automobile. He certainly ought to know how to crank it.

Hank Tumms believes it premonitions. He had a premonition yesterday morning that something unfavorable was going to happen and it did.

A travelin' man bought a round of speculating upon the outcome of the election. Here is their verdict as to Wisconsin:

Wisconsin really looks today as if it would go for Taft. The Roosevelt forces privately admit that they have no hope of carrying it, but insist that Wilson will. Gov. Wilson is embarrassed by the fact that the state Democratic ticket is made up of what his Progressive followers call "Reactionaries and for that reason Wilson will stay out of the state."

There is but one reason to believe that Taft will not carry Wisconsin and that is that the Progressive Republicans will practice what they preach. If they do, Wisconsin is as sure for Wilson as any state in the union.

All our information points one way—that the Progressive Republicans will show their good faith. The movement among them toward Wilson is the most extraordinary thing we have ever seen in the history of politics in Wisconsin.

Situation in Illinois.

Rockford Register-Gazette.—Candidate Dunne, of the democratic ticket is depending on a division of the republican vote to elect him and that is what will happen if republicans waste their votes on Mr. Funk, who has no chance of being elected and will run third in the race. Charles S. Green has given the taxpayers of Illinois an honest, efficient and fearless administration, fighting the jackpotters and corruptionists at all times. Do you believe in upholding his hands in this fight, or do you want to aid Mr. Dunne with a half vote by voting for Mr. Funk?

Something Doing.

Baraboo News.—Janesville must be on the verge of something. Three of the pastors of that city declare that Sodom and Gomorrah were veritable Sunday school cities as compared with Janesville and that conditions in the Bower city are beyond belief.

A Candid Statement.

Oshkosh Northwestern.—The bullet that was intended to take the life of Colonel Roosevelt is more likely to land him in the White House. The prospect of such result was good before, but his attempted assassination makes it a practical certainty.

A GOOD COUGH CURE

Do you remember the good old cough cure mother used to have? It didn't taste like cherry pie but it did cure a cough in a hurry. Mr. Penning, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, makes our Cough Balsam by percolation direct from the roots, barks and seeds of wild cherry, bloodroot, Lobelia, white pine bark. Thereby obtaining the full medicinal virtue and strength of each drug, making it into a syrup we call Badger Cough Balsam. It is made after an old prescription which is today the best cure for any cough, bronchial or lung trouble, healing and soothing to the irritated throat and lungs, it cures by assisting to expel the phlegm from the lungs, not by dosing the system with morphine and chloroform as do the modern patent cough remedies, deadening the nervous system, stupefying the lungs into retaining the mucus, thereby bringing on possible pneumonia and pleurisy. Badger Cough Balsam is a trustworthy expectorant, it loosens up and expels the phlegm. Get a bottle today for yourself or the children. It's safe to use, 25c. Jell Time.

There's jelly in the chafing dish And every-old flower pot; There's jelly in the dipper and In every glass we've got. There's jelly in the teacups And there's jelly in the sink. A feller's up against it when He wants to take a drink.

There's jelly in each parlor vase And the tobacco jar. There's jelly in the beer steins That we stole down at Pete's bar.

There's jelly in the washbubs and In all the stewpans, too. The fireless cooker's full of it And still she isn't through. Receipts are all full now; I have a haunting fear I'll wake some morn' and find that she 'Poured jelly in my ear.

Bread and Butter.
There is no place in which bread and butter can be so beneficial or poisonous as in the nursery. The worst thing you can give a young baby, under a year old, is bread, says a writer. But later on bread becomes useful. It should never be given new to a child at any age, but stale bread or toast, or bread baked crisp in the oven, is excellent for children. They really want more crisp foods nowadays, and if this fact was taken to heart, the next generation would suffer less from decayed teeth and weak digestion.

CONSENT TO ADJOURN TRIAL OF W. KNIPP

Case to Come Up For Trial in Municipal Court Monday Morning—City Attorney Approves.
At the request of John L. Fisher, attorney for the defendant, the case of the City versus W. A. Knipp, charged with the sale of liquor to Harry Berger and Edward Meyer, minors, on the night of September 30, was adjourned today to ten o'clock next Monday morning. City Attorney W. H. Dougherty consented to the postponement. Attorney Fisher stated that he had not been retained by Mr. Knipp until Wednesday and that he had been so busy since he had not been able to look into the case. He recognized that public sentiment was strongly against further adjournment, and he would not ask for it if he were not sure that the case would be settled next Monday. Attorney Dougherty said he had talked the situation over with Mr. Fisher and thought that under the circumstances an adjournment would be entirely proper.

Time Saved.
In a large family, where there are many children, much loss of time and annoyance is saved if, before putting stockings into the wash each week, each person will tack the two stockings of each pair at the heels, says Suburban Life. There is no trouble in trying to make them afterward, as each person may use a different colored thread.

Saying Grace.
I own that I am disposed to say grace upon twenty other occasions in the course of the day, besides my dinner. I want a form for setting out upon a pleasant walk for a moonlight ramble, for a friendly meeting, or a solved problem. Why have we none for books, those spiritual repasts, a grace before Milton—a grace before Shakespeare—a devotional exercise proper to be said before reading the "Faery Queen"?—Charles Lamb.

PREDICTS STORMS LAST OF OCTOBER

Foster Says Weather Will Be Stormy
Last of Month But Precipitation
Will Not Be Heavy.

(Copyrighted 1912 by W. T. Foster)
Last bulletin gave forecasts of disturbance to cross continent Oct. 21 to 25, warm wave 20 to 24, cool wave 25 to 27. This disturbance will bring the country out of the winter-like weather of the past ten days and the remainder of the month promises to be moderate in the way of temperatures. The storms are expected to increase in force about Oct. 23, at which date the storm center is expected on meridian 90.
Not much precipitation from Oct.
23 to the end of month. The warmest period will be about Oct. 23 and the coldest 29, on meridian 90. All weather features cross the continent from west to east an average of about 500 miles a day and the reader must keep this in mind so as to estimate the time the weather features will reach any locality. Where we do not name the locality meridian 90 is understood. That meridian is a north and south line near the general line of the Mississippi and extending north.
Next disturbance will reach Pacific coast about Oct. 24, cross Pacific slope by close of 25, great central valleys 26 to 28, eastern section 29.
Warm wave will cross Pacific slope about Oct. 24, great central valleys 26, eastern section 28. Cool wave will cross Pacific slope about Oct. 27, great central valleys 29, eastern section 31.
Weather will be stormy from Oct.
22 to Nov. 3. Not every day, but there will be no extended period of quiet weather during those two weeks. Not much precipitation but more than usual threatening. Not excessively bad weather for farming but it will not be as good weather as will be needed to care for the crops.
The fall of temperatures will be greater than usual from Oct. 23 to 29.
As South American crop season commences with those produced on this continent, we have reached a point where we can risk a forecast for the principal crop producing states of South America. Upon the same theory we predicted for this year that more rain would fall about the great lakes and in the northern sections than would fall in southern sections.
We predicted drought in some of the cotton states, and for some of the southwestern states east of Rockies.
The new report that the cotton production is between four and five million bales short of last year's production and the drought delayed corn in many sections so that frost seriously damaged it.
The above are only part of the reasons why we advised farmers not to sell their products now. We believe South America will get a drought this year. As we see it that drought will be caused by relative positions of sun, earth, moon and major planets of this month—Oct.
which for that country has the same relation to their crop season as our April has to ours.
The crop season of South America begins in October and ends in March and we expect the drought to begin next month—Nov.—in Argentina, Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, and southern Brazil. We are not positive as to theories of South American weather but have had strong evidences that the theory is correct. We still advise that this is not the time to sell grain and cotton and we believe that whatever crop a drought in South America can effect will bring better prices than are now offered.

Scandinavians.
The term "Scandinavians" is not confined to the Norwegians. The Norwegians are indeed Scandinavians, but so also are the Swedes, Danes and Icelanders. For that matter, the Germans, English and Americans of English stock are also of the Scandinavian stock, since it is more than probable that Germany was originally stocked from the land of the North-men, and it is from the North German stock that the so-called "Anglo-Saxon" comes. The Northman has written his name large in history and his breed is today ruling the world, and will continue to rule it in all likelihood to the end of time. There is no other blood so virile and powerful.

Bread From Dried Codfish.
In Iceland a bread is made from the flesh of dried codfish beaten to a powder.

New York's Big Industries.

New York city has twenty-one industries in each of which the annual product is valued at more than $20,000,000. The largest of these industries is the manufacture of clothing, and next comes the printing and publishing business.

FROCK OF TOBACCO BROWN CASHMERE

Here is a practical frock of tobacco brown cashmere. Brown satin covered buttons fasten the waist at the front, and are placed in groups at the foot of the plaits in the skirt. The sleeves are trimmed with similar buttons of a smaller size. Collar and cuffs of green silk embroidery. The girdle which forms the sash is of bright green satin. The skirt is laid in plaits on either side.

Wisdom of Childhood.

The following composition on men is credited to a little girl: "Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprung further than the men."

Aspen Best Wood for Matches.

Aspen wood is used almost exclusively in the manufacture of matches in Sweden, as it is easily cut and porous enough to be easily impregnated with sulphur or paraffin.

Such Are Great Men.

Great men are the drop-plains in this great pilgrimage of mankind; they stand as heavenly signs, ever-living witnesses of what has been, prophetic tokens of what may still be, the revealed, embodied possibilities of human nature.—Thomas Carlyle.

Cost of Living.
"Maybe my little peep won't count for much in the general complaint against the high cost of living, but I want to chip in, just the same, because I have struck an original note," said a typewriter salesman. "Last week I moved. I do that pretty often. This time I went into a rooming house where the landlady requires a deposit on latchkeys. It was an ordinary key. 'Thirty-five cents,' said she. 'How's that?' said I: 'I have roomed in other places where a deposit was required, but they wanted only a quarter.' 'I know,' said she, sadly, 'but everything is so high these days.' That argument was incontrovertible; things are high, so I paid the deposit."

No Suffragette Views.

A visitor at a seaside boarding house went into the local postoffice and, seeking to draw the postmaster into conversation, asked him what his views were as to suffragettes. "Hah! got no views of that kind," replied the postmaster, "but we've got some fine postcard views of the new viaduct, the Baptist church, and the new library. Want to look at 'em?"—London Tit-Bits.

REPUBLICAN WEALTH FOR THE FEW SAYS DEMOCRATIC ORATOR

Judge Flemming Attacks Prosperity
Argument of Grand Old Party—Kading, and Bolens Talk.

Charging that the flaunted wealth claimed to have come to the country as the result of the republican administration has been only for the few trust magnates who have been benefited by the tariff schedules and other protective legislation, Judge Flemming of Kentucky attacked the prosperity argument of the "Grand Old Party" in an address at the city hall last night.

In addition to Judge Flemming, Charles A. Kading, democratic candidate for attorney general, and Harry Bolens, candidate for lieutenant governor, were present and gave brief talks on the state situation emphasizing the extravagance of the present state administration and denouncing the income tax law. Neither Kading nor Bolens had little to offer that was new and interest centered around Judge Flemming's appeal which was driven home with oratorical effect.

He pointed to the songs that were raised by the republican orators and newspapers in praise of the country's wealth, the immense crops, the abundant work for the laboring man, and the general prosperity. "But there is no answering cheers from the lowly throng," he said. "The republican arguments no longer satisfy."

"The people know that in the midst of the greatest abundance there is wide spread want; that this side by side with monstrous riches there is monstrous poverty; that those who created the wealth do not have it; that the fruits of the earth and labor are not produced by the republican party but are pumped by the republican machine into the reservoirs of a few millionaires and that these millionaires own the pump and that the pump is the product of the republican policies."

"Let the farmers stop producing and the millions in our great cities would starve and grass would grow on the streets of Chicago and New York. Are the farmers in the millionaire's class? The farmers feed the world but the republican policies feed the trusts out of what the farmers and miners produce."

The real question is, are the farmers as well off as they ought to be? Are they growing rich like the privileged classes? Every person knows that he is not. He buys in the dearest market and sells in the cheapest. He is not getting what is coming to him and he knows it."

Referring to the wage earner in the factories and the mines, Judge Flemming inferred that they were not getting their just compensation although it was through their labor that the trust magnates amassed their fortunes.

He spoke of the tariff measures which have been passed and charged that each succeeding measure raised the duties higher than the last while the people paid the bills. In speaking of Mr. Taft he said:

"As for Mr. Taft, he stands 'part' and confesses that the Aldrich Bill was made for the rich and declares that it is the 'best ever'."

No other candidate for the presidency ever dared to announce such a doctrine—the doctrine that the tolling millions of America must guarantee profits to the millionaires. What under this would become of the God given precept "Equal rights to all, special privileges to none?" When Taft says that the Aldrich bill has "vindicated itself" that is what he means—it guarantees big profits to the manufacturers.

Judge Flemming closed with the appeal that a vote for Wilson and democracy would bring about the looked for change.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Milton Junction, Wis.,
Oct. 16, 1912.
Janesville Gazette.

Dear Sir:—
After reading the article on, "Who is Responsible?" And the answer by a loyal Christian, I feel that a little more added will do no harm and hope some good. For years Janesville has had its name for back street murders that were mysterious and as yet had not been laid to the saloons before, to my knowledge. How do we know but they were at the bottom as this one is of a poor motherless girl. And the vital question, "What do we propose to do about it?" will be of no avail unless every Christian voter in the city and every man vote for the prohibition of the saloons. And give the mother a chance to say whether their boys and girls shall be sold, for the "beastly lusts of man?" Do away with the saloon and breweries and the places of ill repute will go also, for if you give the evil one an inch, he will take a rod. And doing away with part of the saloons will make no difference. And how do we know but that it might be your boy or girl, the next victim?

The Suffrage movement is for righteousness and the cause of the child. And if this dastardly crime awakens the conscience to the cause of right the sacrifice of this girl's life will not be in vain, nor you responsible. A reader and taxpayer in the cause of humanity.

C. A. G.

THE ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS.

(Charlotte Perkins Stetson.)

Fashionable women in luxurious home, with men to feed them, clothe them and pay their bills. Bow, doff the hat and fetch the handkerchief, hostess or guest, and always so supplied. With graceful deference and courtesy, surrounded by their servants, horses, dogs—These tell us they have the rights they want.

Successful women who have won their way alone, with strength of their unaided arm or helped by friends or softly climbing up by the sweet aid of "woman's influence," successful any way, and caring naught for any other woman's success—These tell us they have all the rights they want.

Religious women of the feeble sort. Not the religion of a righteous world, a free, enlightened, upward reaching world; but the religion that considers life as something to back

At The Theatre

KINDLING.
Sarah Padden, one of the youngest and most interesting of the popular dramatic stars of the period, comes to the Myers theatre, Saturday, Nov. 2, presenting Charles Kenyon's remarkable play, "Kindling."

"Kindling" tugs at every woman's heart-strings and fills strong men's eyes with tears; it portrays the deep, hidden emotions of humanity whether in palace or hovel.

Maggie Schultz looks forward with terror to the birth of her baby in her dark, unlovely tenement home. She dare not tell her husband, lest he strangle the helpless bit of life when it should come into the world; to him it was little short of murder to bring a helpless child into being, amid such surroundings. It required only a pail of water to go into far-away Wyoming, a paradise of fresh air and glowing sunlight, where her child could have a chance to grow up strong and decent. The fateful opportunity presented itself and Maggie could not resist the terrible temptation to steal out of, whose ideal is to renounce, submit, and sacrifice, counting on being noticed on the head and given a high chair when they get to heaven.

—These tell us they have all the rights they want.

Ignorant women, college bred sometimes, but ignorant of life's realities and principles of a righteous government, and how the privileges they enjoy were won with blood and tears by those before; those they condemn, whose ways they now oppose, saying: Why not let well enough alone? Our world is very pleasant as it is.

—These tell us they have all the rights they want.

And out of these has come a monstrous thing, a strange down-sucking whirlpool of disgrace, women uniting against womanhood, and using that great name to hide their sin. Vain are the words as that of old king's command who set his will against the rising tides. But who shall measure the historic shame of these poor traitors—traitors are they—all to great Democracy and Womanhood!

ATTEMPTS TO FIND '04 CAMPAIGN LIST

Elmer Dover.

The question as to whether there is in existence a list of the contributors to the national republican campaign of 1904 will be answered soon. The one possibility that such a list will be disclosed rests with Elmer Dover, former secretary of the national committee. Dover has just reached Chicago, and will search through the papers of the national committee stored in that city. Should he find the list of 1904 contributors he will turn it over to the senate committee investigating campaign contributions at Washington. This document would be one of the most important that the committee could get hold of in its effort to determine who furnished the funds for the election of Theodore Roosevelt.

Justice.

A young man going a journey entrusted 100 dollars to an old man. When he came back the old man denied having had any money deposited with him, and he was had up before the khazee. "Where were you, young man, when you delivered this money?" "Under a tree." "Take my seal and summon that tree," said the judge. "Go, young man, and tell the tree to come; hither, and the tree will obey you when you show it my seal." The young man went in wonder. After he had been gone some time the khazee said to the old man: "He is long—do you think he got there yet?" "No," said the old man; "it is at some distance; he has not got there yet." "How knowest thou, old man," cried the khazee, "where that tree is?" The young man returned and said the tree would not come. "He has been here, young man, and given his evidence; the money is thine."—From the Oriental

In one of his speech-making tours Attorney General Wickersham had to stop in a small western city, and in the course of his stay, was standing on the street corner talking to a lawyer. There walked past the couple a man who wore the bandages and bruises which indicate the activity of the human fist. "My!" exclaimed Wickersham. "That fellow's been beaten up." "Yes," said the lawyer, without concern. "He's the editor of a scandalous paper that's printed here. He writes stuff about prominent men and women." "Who beat him up?" asked Wickersham, greatly interested. "Oh, I don't know," replied the other. "His paper comes out every Tuesday evening, and he looks that way every Wednesday morning."—Popular Magazine.

THOROUGH EXERCISE KEY TO LONGEVITY

IMPORTANT AS CAREFUL DIET IN PREVENTING APPROACH OF OLD AGE.

FLYNN TELLS METHOD

Every Muscle in Body Should Receive Attention—Ten Minutes a Day Sufficient Time.

"Exercise is as important and necessary as proper diet in warding off old age," said Mr. Flynn, the health evangelist, in his last public lecture at the Carroll Methodist church last evening. His address was given to men only, and was by way of an introduction to the course of exercise to be given in the classes he has organized.

"You may say to me that you are a working man, a farmer, that you have no need of physical exercise. I insist that you do, and that you need it as bad as anyone else. The very fact that you are stiff, and sore and tired is evidence that you need exercise. A good part of your muscles are torn from disuse."

"Exercise enables the body to throw off the poisons that have accumulated in the tissues, the wastes that come from over-eating and unutilized food, and which under normal conditions should have been cared for by the liver, kidneys and bowels. Exercise stimulates the circulation and forces the poisonous wastes back into the blood-stream to be carried off."

Mr. Flynn demonstrated to his audience a number of exercises for the development of muscles and the benefit of the vital organs, and at his invitation to join in a part of them, practically every man and boy present removed his coat and followed his instructions as closely as possible. Mr. Flynn showed them exercises for the kidneys, for the liver, for the lungs, and for the abdomen. Lying flat on his back he raised his legs vertically several times also raising his body slightly.

"You can do that five hundred times with the greatest ease if you are in proper condition, exercising properly and dieting right. It is no trick at all."

This exercise was recommended by the speaker as beneficial to the vital organs, shoving them back into their proper places, and releasing pressure on the abdomen.

One of the most striking exhibitions of Mr. Flynn was the supporting on his abdomen of two men, each weighing 200 pounds. With a man standing at his feet, and another at his head, Mr. Flynn raised his body from the floor, supporting himself on his hands and feet, and with the men standing at either end to keep them steady and from falling the two men weighing 200 pounds each stepped upon his abdomen. Mr. Flynn was not only able to support their weight, but to raise his abdomen under it. This "stunt" aroused great wonder and stirred hearty applause in his audience.

Questions as to his methods and teachings were invited by the speaker and a large number were asked, most of them relative to the number of meals to be eaten daily, the time to exercise, and others of that nature.

"Men over fifty years of age should watch the scales carefully," said Mr. Flynn.

"After reaching fifty the weight should not vary over five pounds either way. If it does, then we know that something is wrong. This should be prevented."

"You say that you are all right, feeling well, and that you need pay no attention to your diet or exercise. You are wrong. Some day you will drop off with a bang, and we will have to leave our business to be pallbearers. You need reserve energy, you need to eliminate the poisons from your system, to keep your arteries from hardening; otherwise you are marked for an early death. I can give you a series of tests that will show whether you are all right or not. You don't dare to take them."

"Some would ask why in the world they should live a ripe old age. We look upon the old person as wrinkled, gray-haired, mentally and physically weak and sickly. While these are associated with old age, they are not the results of old age, but the results of ignorance. If the old persons were bright and healthy, mentally, morally and physically as he can be, he would be an asset to the government, as his advice, coming from long experience, would be very useful."

Mr. Flynn contended that the old belief that the normal and natural limit of the human lifetime is seventy years is a fallacy and quotes as his authority, Elie Metchnikoff, who has made the most thorough and scientific study of the causes of old age, and methods of prolonging life.

"Confirmation of the view that the natural limit is not at 70 or seventy-five years is to be found in the fact that so many men reach a greater age. Centenarians are really not rare. In France, for instance, nearly 150 people die every year, after having reached the age of 100 or more. In 1836, in a population of thirty-five millions and a half, there were 146 centenarians, that is to say, one in about 220,000 inhabitants. In some other countries, particularly in eastern Europe, the number of centenarians is still greater. In Greece for instance, there is a centenarian for each set of 24,641 persons, that is to say, nine times as many as in France."

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

A COLD is a hoarse, dismal ailment which attacks people in the bronchial tubing when they are looking the other way. It is the first degree of floor-walking influenza, and by the time a man has had the thirty-second degree he will have to store his surplus handkerchiefs in the attic.

There are over 9,000 known causes for colds, the most effective of which is to sleep next to a hot air register in a 9x9 room with the windows closed. If he has a habit of combing the first frost with low-necked ankles and gauze hose comes next.

There is also the practice of cooling off on the back porch in a state of free and untrammeled perspiration. By trying any one of these a man can secure a cold which will be fully up to the plans and specifications.

There are two kinds of colds—hard and soft. The hard cold never indulges in any false motions, such as preliminary snuffles or the admonitory sneeze. The victim of a hard cold will go to bed at night with bright visions of the future and a wide-open respiratory tract, and wake up in the morning with a prolonged, reversible whoop and growing pains in the breastbone. This kind of a cold is harder to cure than the habit of making change out of the collection box.

The soft cold is a meek proposition which edges in diffidently and notifies everybody that it is about to do business. Some of these colds become so soft that people are able to cash them in as pneumonia and stings—confiding accident insurance companies with great velocity. All that is necessary to cure a soft cold is to go to bed for a week, change hot compresses every four minutes live on Peruvian quinine and catnip tea, and collect a few blisters from a hot water bag.

Colds have a very stimulating effect upon the eyes and nose, and also impart a pungent nasal twang to the conversation, which is highly unmusical. There would be more marriages in this country if fewer men would propose with a cold in the head.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

The Thoughtless Girl and Marriage

SHE WAS weeping hysterically, and the Travellers' Aid matron at the railway station took her in hand, led her to a quiet corner, and heard her story.

Her husband had run away and left her with a seven months' old baby. She had traced him so far, but now she was stranded in a strange city without money and without friends.

As she finished her tale, and listened to the soothing words of the Travellers' Aid, her tears gradually ceased. She leaned back in the chair, took off her big, heavy hat, and revealed a head with close cropped hair.

The Travellers' Aid stared amazed.

"I cut off my hair," said the deserted one, noting the matron's look "to conceal my identity, so he wouldn't know I was chasing him."

"But cutting off your hair doesn't conceal your identity," said the matron. "Under that hat, your hair scarcely shows."

"I guess it didn't do much good," replied the woman regretfully. "But I didn't think. I just took the scissors and slashed it off. I thought maybe he wouldn't recognize me with my hair gone. I wish now though, I hadn't. I had lovely long hair, to my waist. And thick!—you just ought to have seen it. Do you think it will grow again soon? Maybe in three weeks or so, it will be long enough to curl. Do you think so?" She looked at the matron anxiously. Then she continued to prattle about curling her hair and fixing it prettily. The deserting husband seemed forgotten. Her chief desire in life seemed to be, to once more curl her hair.

The probability is that she kept house in the same heedless fashion in which she cut off her hair. And no doubt she thought more about curling her hair than she did about cooking.

There is, of course, nothing but condemnation for the man who will leave a woman to care for, and rear unaided, his child. He is not to be excused for his conduct. But if we want to prevent such catastrophes, must we not somehow bring heedless girls to think upon marriage more seriously than many do now?

There are many ingredients that go to make a happy marriage, as every successful wife knows. One of them is, without doubt, personal daintiness. But this is by no means all. And the other essentials should be put before girls in such a way that they will recognize their importance and think upon them.

This is the problem that many a mother has. It is the problem all welfare workers have. But surely these big, fine things of life which, after all, are in the handling of them, the test of character, can be put before girls in such a way as to arouse their interest and stir their ambition.

This girl, had the matter been presented to her rightly, could have been made to see that there is more to marriage than keeping her hair curled; and that a happy home and a contented husband are worth while, but that good housekeeping and economically managed expenditures are part of the price of possession.

But evidently she had never thought of these things, or they had not been presented to her in such a way that she would think of them. And hence a tragedy.

And such tragedies are taking place every day by the hundreds. And not only does the woman suffer, but a helpless little child enters life with a heavy handicap.

So ought we not to find the way to set thoughtless girls to thinking upon these other things as well as upon curling their hair?

Barbara Boyd.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) My chum and I are both engaged. She wears her engagement ring on her right hand and I wear mine on the left. Which is right? (2) One of us has light brown hair, the other dark brown. What color wedding dress should we wear?

CHUMS.

(1) Left hand is right. (2) White for both.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—A boy and girl, each aged 16, are engaged and are to marry after they have graduated from school in about a year. She is an awfully good girl and he works after school and in vacation to save money for the future. She is my chum and has often asked me if I thought her too young and I don't think she will be in a year or so.

CHUMS.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) We are sisters and both unfortunate enough to have red hair. Have been advised to use peroxide to bleach it. Will this prove successful or will it leave the hair in a pinkish state? (2) One of us is engaged to a very considerate young man. Is it proper, if invited by him, to accompany the engaged couple to places of amusement? If so, would it be proper for the other one to be present when he takes leave after returning home? (3) When a young gentleman calls on a young lady, is it proper for her to be waiting for him or would it seem less anxious on her part to wait him waiting? (4) In your opinion which is the best girl's college in the United States? BULA and LULA.

(1) Red hair is beautiful and fashionable, so why change it? Brush it a great deal to make it fluffy, and burnish it with a piece of clean velvet until it sparkles, dress it becomingly and you will have a glory crown that cannot be excelled. Peroxide will bleach the hair, but will coarsen it also and it will never remain a desirable shade.

(2) Thank him and decline unless it is an exceptional instance. It would be more considerate to absent yourself unobtrusively when he leaves.

(3) It depends upon the sort of man he is. Some men need to be kept waiting, while others think your just stopping to pump up on their account. Don't have any set rule. Just make him feel comfortable.

(4) The principal colleges are of equal excellence.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 22. (1) Should a young man ask the lady's parents after engagement or wait till they are to be married and then ask for her hand? (2) Ought a girl's conscience tell her whether she loves him enough to marry him? Will she doubt her love at times? (3) How long ought a couple to keep company before they are engaged? (4) Ought an engaged couple be separated for two years?

BLOSSOM.

(1) He should ask her parents immediately after he has asked the girl. (2) I think every girl doubts her love at times, even if in her heart she is certain of it. (3) Not a minute longer than it takes him to find out he loves the girl. He should then ask her to marry him. (4) Not if it can be helped. The engagement period should be used to get better acquainted with each other.

(3) It depends upon the sort of man he is. Some men need to be kept waiting, while others think your just stopping to pump up on their account. Don't have any set rule. Just make him feel comfortable.

(4) The principal colleges are of equal excellence.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 22. (1) Should a young man ask the lady's parents after engagement or wait till they are to be married and then ask for her hand? (2) Ought a girl's conscience tell her whether she loves him enough to marry him? Will she doubt her love at times? (3) How long ought a couple to keep company before they are engaged? (4) Ought an engaged couple be separated for two years?

BLOSSOM.

(1) He should ask her parents immediately after he has asked the girl. (2) I think every girl doubts her love at times, even if in her heart she is certain of it. (3) Not a minute longer than it takes him to find out he loves the girl. He should then ask her to marry him. (4) Not if it can be helped. The engagement period should be used to get better acquainted with each other.

The Evening Chit-Chat

GROWN-UP CHILDREN.

THERE are several kinds of grown up children in this world. There's the kind that everybody loves, the folks whose hearts have refused to grow old with their body, who have somehow miraculously avoided the cynicism and disenchantment which usually come with the years, and have kept all the fine enthusiasm and optimism of youth.

And there is the kind of people who really have grown old but refuse to admit it by their manners or their clothes. Too often we laugh at them when we really ought to pity them.

And then again, there is the kind of grown up children, who, while they have lost all the fine qualities of youth, have still kept its pettiness—and as for these, well, to me, at least, it's pretty hard to remember that they aren't big enough to deserve dislike.

In our neighborhood there is a person with the outward semblance of a man. People who see him on the street or know him casually think he deserves to be called one. People who know him better usually come to realize that he is simply a grown up child of the least desirable class. Here is a little example of the tricks by which he has earned this reputation. In company with several other young couples he and his wife used to play cards two or three evenings every week. One very lovely Summer evening the rest of the company felt disinclined to card playing and voted for a walk. He preferred the card playing and said so with all the imperiousness of a spoiled child. The rest of the party naturally saw no reason why they should all give in to please one member, and pleasantly responded that they would walk and he might play cards if he preferred. So angry was he at this refusal to yield to his preference that he not only stayed at home and played cards, but he actually "got mad" and refused even to speak to the offenders any more.

What do you think of that? He saw them constantly, on the street, at social gatherings and at the restaurant they all frequented, but he passed them by in stony silence. The other day he found himself on the street car sitting next to one of the women, and although she was quite ready to say good morning and pass the time of day, he hid behind his paper and hugged his "mad." And all because they wouldn't play of her lovers? "God made him and, therefore, let him pass for a man." That is a very expressive description of some people, isn't it?

Again, I know a hostess of a boarding house who says she has to be very careful to have all her helpings exactly alike, because there are some of her guests who would be much upset if they thought anyone else was getting a once more of pudding or more plums in their sauce than they.

To have grown up and lost all the glories of childhood, and not to have compensated one's self by getting rid of its pettiness and petulance, surely this is one of the tragedies of life.

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Wooley

"Don't you ever wear a kimono?"

"Not unless I'm feeling too ill to leave my room. I should consider that Jack had a perfect right to eat his morning meal clad only in a bathrobe and Turkish slippers if I came to the table like that. A woman should look as pretty in the morning as at 8 o'clock at night."

BE NEAT, ANWAY.

"Buck up, Polly! Tomorrow is another day," quoted her friend, cheerily. "Lots of girls and married women, too, for that matter, are just as careless, simply because they do not stop to think. It is sometimes a little hard for a busy woman with two or three children to keep herself nice looking when perhaps the maid of all work has taken herself off, and the baker forgets to deliver the rolls for breakfast, and she is sure the eggs are stale and Johnny's howling because he cut his finger with his father's razor and the baby is crying, principally because he never lets a good opportunity go by and everything is topsy-turvy."

"But even in such an awful state of affairs as this it won't take ten minutes more to brush the hair properly and put on a neat house dress, than it will to stop around in a trowsy kimono. And if I know anything I know this, that a husband will forgive an occasional bad breakfast or an untidy house long before he forgets your tumbled hair and your disheveled appearance."

"I have always heard," said the girl demurely, "that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

"That may be the way to his heart," said the woman, "but if you want to keep him attentive you have got to please his eye."

WHY NOT LOOK PRETTY IN THE MORNING.

"Oh, what a difference in the morning!" sang the Woman of Thirty as she caught her friend in a draggled blue kimono with three or four kid curlers peeping shyly from her untidy hair.

"I know it's awfully early for a call," continued she, "but I couldn't resist running over to talk about the party last night and to tell you how perfectly sweet everybody said you looked. But perhaps I'd better go if you're not feeling very well!"

"There's nothing the matter with me," said the Average Girl, in surprise. "What made you think there was?"

"Why I naturally thought from your kimono and your hair that you did not feel able to dress."

The Girl laughed. "Is that all? I scarcely ever dress until lunch time unless I'm going somewhere."

"You don't mean to tell me that you have the NERVE to go down to breakfast in that get-up?"

The Girl nodded.

"Job couldn't have been in it with patience with your family," remarked the Woman, with disapproval in her glance. "I verily believe that my husband would get a divorce if I should be rash enough to pour his coffee any morning, dressed like that."

The Girl nodded.

Somewhat Contradictory. In America, says the Louisville Courier-Journal, a school teacher works, upon the average, for about half as much as a bricklayer, and has to tell the boys that education is a necessity if they would get on in life.

Usurer Properly Punished. Five years in prison and a fine of 15,000 marks was the punishment inflicted in Munich on a man convicted of usury. He rented houses, and exacted up to 350 per cent a year of his victims.

Baby's Clothes Must be Soft and Snowy White

The greatest joy of the careful, painstaking and proud mother is to see her baby's clothes soft and clean and snowy white.

Ordinary soap often leaves them yellow or streaky and lacking that much to be desired freshness and sweetness. Then again there is always that "bugbear" of dainty clothes being rotted and burned out by strong chemicals and "dirt starters." All these difficulties are eliminated by the use of

KIRK'S FLAKE WHITE SOAP

Washes quicker, easier, cleaner and whiter than any other soap on the market

Suited for every household use. Millions of housewives are using it daily. No other laundry soap made like it and no other laundry soap ever made gives such complete satisfaction everywhere.

Made from purest vegetable oils only, and will do all the roughest as well as the most delicate wash of the household and laundry with less labor and time than any other soap made, and will not injure the clothes or burn the hands.

There is no grayish grease or harmful chemicals used in KIRK'S FLAKE (White) Soap. It is the modern soap.

For Cold or Hot—Hard or Soft Water

KIRK'S FLAKE (White) is equally effective in cold or hot water, with or without boiling. The same cake may be used for every household purpose with perfect satisfaction. In hard water it lathers freely and breaks and softens the water. Saves time, labor and clothes.

BRAN BREAD.

In most cases there is no better food remedy for constipation than bran bread, although it should be understood that exercise, physical and mental, and other influences have much to do with constipation and that none of the causes should be neglected. Following is a recipe for bran bread: Three cups of wheat bran, one and a half cups of flour, a cup of buttermilk, two tablespoonfuls of New Orleans molasses, one and a half tablespoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of lard. Mix thoroughly and bake quickly but at a moderate temperature. Cut the bread in slices and eat it the third day or later, not fresh.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Oct. 18, 1872.—Dr. Henry Palmer's team of ponies took fright at a locomotive yesterday afternoon near the depot and partially overturned the buggy before the doctor and his wife realized their danger. Grasping the reins as the buggy righted, the doctor attempted to check the speed of the ponies but succeeded in only pulling himself through the dashboard.

Down among the horses' heels the wheel struck his back, turning him over and causing him to lose his hold on the reins. The team passed on leaving the doctor in the road. Mrs. Palmer with remarkable presence of mind, threw herself in the bottom of the buggy, reached down for the drag reins, secured them, and actually succeeded in stopping the runaway horses. Dr. Palmer is badly bruised and his buggy somewhat damaged. The escape from serious injury is remarkable.

John P. Williams, the popular landlord of the Russ House, insurance agent and bass singer, together with his wife threw open their pleasant hotel last night to their friends and a merry time was enjoyed. Terpsichorean indulgences was the feature of the evening, barring the supper which was the main event. After they had danced until they were satisfied, the assembly was permitted to depart from the hospitable premises.

Ten thousand gifted fellows who bind us with a spell, are working jaws and bellows, emitting roar and yell; these gifted language, toters do naught, the long year through, but lecture to the voters and tell them what to do. They keep no wheels turning, they toll not, they don't spin; they keep no forges burning—they merely wash the chin. They plow no useful furrow, they fill no butter kegs, you'll never see them burrow beneath the barn for eggs. They do not weld or solder, or work in potter's clay; they bring no corn or fodder to town on market day. They fatten up no porkers, no cattle to be tipped—oh, they are surely corks, these specialists in wind. And we, the Jakes and Georges, the Harrys, Toms and Dicks, who foil at looms and forges, and manufacture bricks, are 'chumps' enough to swallow the doctrines that they plead, are chumps enough to follow wherever the windmills lead! The non-producers guide us and tell us we are free; the non-producers ride us like Old Men of the Sea. O'er all the land they're spinning in gorgeous palace cars, in purple and fine linen, equipped with rich cigars, and we who toil and struggle, and await in cataracts, should listen while they juggle with figures, words and facts!

PUBLIC NOTICE

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a cleverly worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertisement is omitted. All newspapers have this experience.

But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

Physical Impossibility.

A young Englishman came to Wash- ington and devoted his days and nights to an earnest endeavor to drink all the Scotch whisky there was. He couldn't do it, and presently he went to a doctor complaining of a disor- dered stomach. "Quit drinking," or- dered the doctor. "But, my dear sir, I can't. I get so thirsty." "Well," said the doctor, "whenever you are thirsty, eat an apple instead of tak- ing a drink." The Englishman paid his fee and left. He met a friend to whom he told his experience. "Bally rot," he protested. "Fawcay eating 40 apples a day."—Saturday Evening Post.

break the fetters of a purposeless life. At once he placed his sword at Lafayette's disposal, and packed him- self and servant—a fellow of dog- like fidelity—across the ocean. There, at the seat of war's alarms, in the great conflict waged in the name of liberty, he met a soldier's end; far from the field of his ancestors. Sanchez, the man, buried him, and, having dutifully performed this last task, walked away from the grave and out of the army.

During this while the son by the peasant woman, entrusted to an old fishwife who had been allowed to usurp a patch of his father's lands, received scanty care and attention, even when the stipulated fees for his maintenance had continued to come; but when, at the Seigneur's death, they ceased, any slight solicitude on the caretaker's part soured to acrimony. An offspring of dubious parentage, she begrudged him his bread; kept him from her own precious brood, and taught them to address him as "brat," "pauper," or by terms even more forcible. Thus set upon, frequently he fought; but like young wolves, hunting in packs, they worried him to the earth, and, when he continued to struggle, beat him to unconsciousness, if not submission.

One day, after such an experience at the hands of those who had par- taken of the Seigneur's liberality, the boy, all bruised and aching, fled to the woods; and, with the instinct of an animal to hide, buried himself in its deepest recesses. Night came; en- compassed by strange sounds, un- known terrors, he crept to the verge of the forest, and lying there, looked out across the distance toward the scattered habitations, visible through the gloom. One tiny yellow dot of light which he located held his glance. Should he return? That small stone hut, squelid as it was, had been his only remembered home. But the thought of the reception that awaited him there made him hesi- tate; the stars coming out, seemed to lend courage to his resolution, and, with his face yet turned toward the low long strip of land, sprinkled with the faint, receding points of light, he fell asleep.

The earliest shafts of morn, how- ever, awaking him, sent him quickly back into the dark forest, where all day he kept to the most shadowy screens and covers, fearing he should be followed, and, perhaps, captured. But the second night was like the first, the next like the second, and the days continued to pass with no signs of pursuit. Pinched by hunger, cer- tain of the berries and roots he ate poisoned him, until in time he profited by his sufferings and learned to discriminate in his choice of the frugal fare about him. Not that his ap- petite was ever satisfied, even when he extended his explorations to the beach at night, digging in the sand with his fingers for cockles, or prowling about the rocks for mussels.

Yet, despite all, he hugged to his breast a compensating sense of lib- erty; the biting tooth of autumn was preferable to the stripes and tongue- lashings of the old life; and, it now frugal repasts were the rule, hunger had often been his lot in the past. So he assimilated with his surroundings; learned not to fear the animals, and they, to know him; indeed, they seemed to recognize him by that sharp unsated glint of the eye as one of their kind. When the days grew bleaker and the nights colder, he took refuge in a corner within the gray walls of the moss-grown castle of his ancestors, the old Seigneur's. No cheerful place, above all at night; when the spirits of the dead seem to walk abroad, and sob, moans, and fierce voices fill the air! Then, creep- ing closer to the fire he had started in the giant hearth, wide-eyed, he would listen, only at length through sheer weariness to fall asleep. Never- theless, it was a shelter, and here, throughout the winter, the boy re- mained.

Here, too, Sanchez, the Seigneur's old servant, returning months later from long wanderings to the vicinity of the Mount—for no especial reason, save the desire once more to see the place—had found him. And at the slight the man frowned.

In the later days, the Seigneur Desaurac had become somewhat un- mindful, if not forgetful, of his own flesh and blood. It may be that the absorbing character of the large and chivalrous motives that animated him left little disposition or leisure for private concerns; at any rate, he seemed seldom to have thought, much less spoken of, that "hostage of for- tune" he had left behind; an absent- mindedness that in no wise surprised the servant, which, indeed, met the man's full, unspoken approval. The Seigneur, his master, was a noble- man of untarnished ancestry, to be followed and served; the son— Sanchez—had never forgiven the mother her low-born extraction. He was, himself, a peasant!

CHAPTER III.

After his chance encounter with my lady, the governor's daughter, and Beppo, her attendant, the boy walked quickly from the Mount to the forest.

His eyes were still bright; his cheeks yet burned, but occasionally the shadow of a smile played about his mouth, and he threw up his head fiercely. At the verge of the wood, he looked back, stood for a moment with the reflection of light on his face, then plunged into the shadows of the sylvan labyrinth. Near the east door of the castle, which presently he reached, he stopped for an armful of faggots, and, bending under his load, passed through an entrance, scarred and battered, across a great roofless space and up a flight of steps to a room that had once been the kitchen of the vast establishment. As he en- tered, a man, thin, wizened, though active-looking, turned around.

"So you've got back," he said in a grumbling tone.

"Yes," answered the boy good-na- turedly, casting the wood to the flag- ging near the flame and brushing his coat with his hand; "the storm kept us out last night, Sanchez."

"I'll keep you out for good some day," remarked the man. "You'll be drowned, if you don't have a care."

"Better that than being hanged!" returned the lad lightly.

The other's response, beneath his breath, was lost, as he drew his stool close to the pot above the blaze, removed the lid and peered within. Ap- parently his survey was not satisfac- tory, for he replaced the cover, clasped his fingers over his knees and half closed his eyes.

"Where's the fish?" The boy, thoughtfully regarding the flames, started; when he had left the child and Beppo, unconsciously he had dropped it, but this he did not now explain. "I didn't bring one."

"Didn't bring one?"

"No," said the boy, flushing slightly. "And not a bone or scrap in the larder! Niggardly fishermen! A small evening wage—for going to sea and helping them—"

"Oh, I could have had what I want- ed. And they are not niggardly! Only—I forgot."

"Forgot?" The man lifted his hands, but any further evidence of surprise or expostulation was interrupted by a sudden ebullition in the pot.

Left to his thoughts, the boy stepped to the window; for some time stood motionless, gazing through a forest rift at the end of which uprose the top of an Aladdin-like structure, by an optical illusion become a part of that locality; a conjuror's castle in the wood!

The Mount looks near tonight, Sanchez!

END LIVER TROUBLE WITHOUT CALOMEL

Untrustworthy Drug. Thought to Loosen the Teeth. Now Made Absolutely Unnecessary.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are the mildest but surest laxative known, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. Dr. Edwards' has been calomel's uncompromising foe. His efforts to banish it brought out the little olive-colored tablets, a rare combination of vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil. These pleasant, harmless little tablets do all the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth—like strong liquids—or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel at all, but to let Olive Tablets take their place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Olive Tablets when you feel "drowsy" and "heavy." Note how they "perk up" the clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits.

At 10c and 25c a box. "Every little Olive Tablet makes a movement all its own."

Men Didn't Count.

"Has the Seventh regiment military passed here yet?" asked a woman on the morning of May 30, as she joined a group of people who were watching the formation of a part of the Deco- ration Day parade. The man address- ed replied that if she meant the Sev- enth regiment, it had passed long since. "Are you quite sure it was the Seventh regiment military?" she ques- tioned anxiously. "Quite," was the response. "Well," confessed she, "I came out to see the Seventh regiment mil- itary, but," glancing rather contemptu- ously at the members of a G. A. R. post, standing about at the intersec- tion of two streets waiting for the word to "march," "I don't care to see those; they're just men. I can see plenty of men any time; what I want to see is soldiers!"—New York Press.

No Profit in Alligators.

The difficulty about raising alliga- tors to supply the demand for the an- imals and skins is that they do not attain full growth for about 100 years. The skin of the six or seven-year-old animal is available, however, for many practical purposes. There is one on a farm at Palm Beach which measures 18 feet in length and is said to be about 900 years old. There are several of these farms in operation at the present time, but the industry will not be really profitable until the wild alligators become scarcer.

Dinner Stories

A fledgling composer took his first opera to Massenet. "You know, of course," began the visitor, "that Moliere used to read his pieces to an old woman, in the belief that scenes which found favor with her would be liked also by the audiences." My reason for asking you to listen to my work is somewhat the same. I know that whatever pleases you will also please the public." "You are very kind," replied Massenet, "very kind, indeed, but really, since you are not Moliere, I see no reason why I should be your old woman."

The young wife had given her husband a dance. "You've improved wonderfully, Jack," she said as they sat down. "Don't you remember how you used to tear my dress?" "Yes," he replied. "I wasn't buying them then."

The prisoner was charged with an trivial offense that the judge told him that if he would plead guilty he would let him off with a fine. "Before we plead guilty," replied the man's lawyer, "we'd like to know what the fine will be." "Isn't it rather unusual to attempt to bargain with the court?" asked the judge. "Per- haps it is, your honor," replied the lawyer, "but in this case it is im- portant. You see, the prisoner has only $12, and as my fee is $10, we can't afford to plead guilty if you in- tend to fine him more than $2."

A recent English traveler in Bal- uichistan had from a boy named I that country a story about Moses which does not appear in the Scriptures, yet which has its pertinence to this mat- ter of politicians proposing to do away with all the evils of the human lot (says the Century Magazine). The patriarch was sitting in his house very sad, and the Lord said to him: "Prophet Moses, why are thou cast down?" "Alas!" said he, "I see so many people sorrowful. Some are un- clothed, and some are hungry. I pray Thee make all happy and contented." The Lord promised it should be so. But soon Moses was again disconsolate, and once more the Lord asked the cause. "Lord," cried the prophet, "the upper story of my house has fallen down, and nobody will come to mend it; they are all too busy enjoying themselves." "But what art thou to do?" "Lord, make the people as they were before!"

When We Have Been Wronged

From the Sunday School Times.

DOES any responsibility for "making up" rest upon a person who has been wronged by another, when the one who has done the injury will offer no apology? The question is not merely one for class discussion; it enters into ordinary experience constantly and prominently. A bank president in Ohio writes of its discussion in his Sunday-school class:

"Our class was divided over the question of our duty to the other fellow, when he has wronged us, and we feel certain that there has been no wrong on our part. Some said we are to leave him alone until he is ready to confess that he has wronged us. Others said that the verse, 'If therefore thou art offering thy gift at the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath sinned against thee,' means that we must try to be reconciled to the brother who has been offended (even when there has been no wrong on our part) before our gifts will be acceptable to God. What is the teaching of that verse? (Matt. 5:23, 24)."

It is always safe to follow the example of God in our principles of action. We have wronged God so terribly by sin that we cannot, and would not if we could, turn to God of our own accord and seek reconciliation. God is wholly in the right; yet God does not leave us alone until we are ready to confess and ask for reconciliation. Instead, God seeks us out, and, at a tragic and infinite cost to himself and his Son, he simply loves us into confessing and seeking reconciliation. No man has ever turned to God for forgiveness until after God had won him to this by long-suffering, patient, loving entreaty and kindness. Suppose God should "leave us alone" until we were ready to do the right thing!

Must Forgive As We Are Forgiven.

When we have finally yielded to his love and accepted his pleadingly proffered forgiveness and life in Jesus Christ his sacrificed Son, then he asks us, who thus have been forgiven such an unspeakably great debt, to forgive others their little debts against us. And he asks us to do it in his way—the same way that he used toward us. He asks us to go out after them in love, positive, aggressive, compelling, winning love, love that makes the first move, but that never makes the last move, because it never ceases, never falters. If we simply lavish our love, in positive ways, persistently and unceasingly upon one who has wronged us, and never allow that we have even noticed the wrong, any hard feeling is pretty sure to starve to death. There is pretty sure to be a reconciliation, whether or not the other fellow ever does anything about it openly. To be reconciled means, in the Greek, to be changed throughout. It is that sort of change that God would effect by showing his love in us and through us toward any one who needs reconciling toward us.

The injunction in Matthew 5:23, 24 would seem to include all this. It would reasonably seem to apply to either an innocent or a guilty party in such a matter. If a man has wronged another, and has not confessed and made restitution, then he certainly ought to set things right before going on with his religious duties. If he has been wronged, and has not done all that he might to effect a reconciliation; the obligation, to do so lies just as heavily upon him as upon the offending person. Though he may have been innocent before, he now becomes guilty of the quarrel if he does not sacrifice himself utterly in loving effort to win the other's love; and his worship will not be acceptable to God until he does so.

Under the Rule of Jesus.

Let our temper be under the rule of the love of Jesus; he alone can curb it—he can make us gentle and patient. Let the vow that not any unkind word of others shall ever be heard from our lips be laid trustfully at his feet. Let the gentleness that refuses to take offense, that is always ready to excuse, to think and; hope the best, mark our intercourse with all. Let our life be one of self-sacrifice, always studying the welfare of others, finding our highest joy in blessing others. And let us, in studying the divine art of doing good, yield ourselves as obedient learners to the guidance of the Holy Spirit. By his grace the most commonplace life can be transfigured with the brightness of a heavenly beauty, as the infinite love of the divine nature shines out through our frail humanity.—Rev. A. Murray.

Upward and Outward.

"This commandment have we from him. That he who loveth God loveth his brother also."—1 John 4:21.

Most religions are meant to be straight lines, connecting two points: God and man. But Christianity has three points: God and man and his brother, with two lines that make a right angle. Each one of us is at the point of the angle, looking up to God and out to our brother. What God sends down the perpendicular line we must pass along the horizontal. If one hand goes up to God, the other must go out to our brother.—Rev. Maltbie D. Babcock.

Lesson for Sunday, Oct. 27, 1912. Wanderings in Decapolis. Mark vii:31-viii:10.

He and Another Man.

A woman who owns a little brown rowboat, which when not in use is tied in a sheltered Cape Ann cove, responded to a knock at her cottage door the other day to find a very diminutive boy standing on the threshold. "Please, ma'am," lisped he, "can me an' another man have the loan of the brown skiff to go a-cod fishin'?"

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

Henrietta D. Grauel

It will cook at a gentle heat for several hours.

Like all cooking, casserole cooking may be made economical or expensive; to the pot roast you may add mushrooms and the most delicate herbs, or you may season the meat with a bouquet of onion, celery, turnip, parsley, a bay leaf, two cloves, and a sprinkle of paprika.

If you are fond of spiced meat put into the casserole with the meat at the beginning, a half cup of vinegar, one-fourth teaspoon of mustard, and a few whole grains of allspice.

If you have only potatoes to cook with your roast add them when the meat is two-thirds cooked, they will be well flavored with the meat and will make you anxious to try other combinations in "the little brown servant."

Small birds, sweet-breads, oysters and fowl are best cooked by this method because all the natural aroma and juices are preserved.

Squabs are prepared as for roasting; the casserole is lined with one or two slices of fine bacon, lay the birds in and add a cup and a half of rich meat stock, season and cover the birds and cook in the oven or on top of the stove, protecting the casserole from the direct heat of the fire. When the squabs are done serve them on hot buttered toast that has been moistened in the broth in the casserole, or thicken this broth with a little cream and cornstarch and moisten the toast with it.

An ordinary casserole set consists of one good sized baking dish suitable for a four-pound cut of meat, two open baking bowls that may be used for such articles as are to be browned while cooking and so need not be covered, and six squat, brown "cocottes" or individual dishes.

Many little savories may be made in the last named utensils; for instance eggs are shirred in them, or a mixture of rice and lamb dressed with tomatoe sauce and wanted at the table as hot as possible, is made to perfection in them.

Oysters on toast are best when steaming hot, and they, too, are adapted to the individual casserole; butter them well inside, then stamp out a slice of toast that will just fit in the dish nicely and moisten this with the oyster liquor, on this lay six or more oysters, according to their size, season with salt and pepper and bits of butter, and table-spoon of cream if you have it. Put the dishes in the oven with steady heat and cook about ten minutes or until the ruffles on the oysters curl and crisp. Place the dishes on plates and send at once to the table. Slices of lemon and thinly sliced brown bread may be sent in with these.

The term "en casserole" means served in the casserole; "a la casserole" indicates that the food was prepared in this utensil but served in some other way.

Puddings and desserts that are to be used while hot adapt themselves to this mode, because they may be cooked and kept at a high temperature until needed without fear of deterioration.

Pears or peaches may be prepared thus: Make a syrup of sugar and water, flavor with spices. Cut the fruit in halves and arrange in the baking dish pour on the syrup and bake until tender, remove the lid and brown quickly.

Gold Trodden Into Floor.

The wooden floor of a jewelry workshop becomes valuable after a few years because of the gold dust that is trapped into the pores of the wood and into the cracks. A manufacturing jeweler who moved not long ago got permission from the landlord to tear up the old floor and replace it with a new one after he moved. The boards and dirt were burned to ashes and yielded a profit of $125 in gold after all expenses of the new floor and the smelting were paid.

Make Use of Scorched Timber.

The great forest fires which unfortunately occur almost every autumn leave vast quantities of "fire killed timber." This is now being used extensively for many purposes, being preferred in some cases to green timber. Fruit growers, for instance, are said to prefer it for packing boxes because it is almost odorless and does not impart an unnatural flavor to the fruit. Telephone poles and railway ties are also made to advantage from fire killed timber.

Saves Elderly People From Kidney and Bladder Miseries

Sleep Disturbing Bladder Weakness, Backache, Stiff Joints, Rheumatic Pains Disappear After Few Doses are Taken

While people along in years are naturally more subject to weak kidneys, they can avoid the tortures of backache, and rheumatism, and be saved the annoyance of getting up at night with disagreeable bladder disorders, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly cures the most severe and obstinate cases.

Croxone quickly and permanently cures these conditions because it removes the cause. It is the most wonderful remedy ever devised for ridding the system of uric acid. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. Pills, tablets, and other medicines merely stimulate the kidneys, occasionally giving temporary relief. Croxone makes the kidneys filter the blood and sift out all the poisonous acids and waste matter that cause these troubles.

It soaks right in and cleans out the stopped-up inactive kidneys like water does a sponge, dissolves, and drives out every particle of uric acid and other poisonous impurities that lodge in the joints and muscles and cause rheumatism. It neutralizes the urine so it no longer irritates the bladder, overcomes unnecessary breaking of sleep and restores the kidneys and bladder to health and strength permanently and positively curing such troubles.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what else you have used. The very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it, and all your misery and suffering soon disappear. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.
